This year's Little Black Book for Lent has the following as part of the 2/21/26 meditation:

Maybe sometimes I hold on too tightly to things. A "loose hold" would be better. Fasting and giving things away are two ways to overcome a tight-fisted hold on things that will pass. Spring is just around the corner. Some creative "spring cleaning" could turn up a lot of things that I could let go of, and let others enjoy.
